

Sustainability is at the heart of our design process. With Sia we’ve managed to drive the virgin plastic used in the structural elements of the chair down to just 20%. The remaining 80% is recycled post-consumer plastic. As well as cutting the embedded carbon in the finished piece, our approach helps the planet by absorbing plastic waste.

Moving towards a circular manufacturing model, Sia uses fewer components than most task chairs and is assembled without adhesives. This makes replacing damaged parts more feasible, extending Sia’s longevity while also making it easier to separate and reuse or recycle components at the end of its life cycle.
